Burnout Buster: The Joy of Being Spontaneous

“ Robin is an amazing speaker and her session was so inspiring and full of specific examples and actions to take. It was hands down my favorite session of the conference and folks were standing in the back because all the seats were filled. I'd highly recommend anyone to attend a session of hers. ❤️ ”

My favorite thing about working with Robin Shear is she is enthusiastic, she always wants to help, she's organized, and she makes my life easier as a meeting planner. And my attendees are always thrilled to have her speak. They were on their feet dancing, they were swaying back and forth, and we all loved having Robin with us.

“ Pure joy session! Super interesting and allows you to reflect on what your joy is with lots of action items! Loved loved the session. Thank you Robin for your energy! ”

“ I feel energized and motivated to tell “guilt” to go somewhere else. This session was extremely powerful and I’m so happy to have actionable items to take away! ”

Here's why I like working with Robin: A lot of speakers will just show up to do their session and take off, but Robin actually takes the time to tell people that's she's coming to the event, why she's coming to the event, talk about the event and promote her session, and that takes a lot of load off your social media team. And when she comes to the event, she actually delivers!

--Kristi Casey, PCMA, Education Strategist

Very engaging, fun, and very insightful ways to make changes to my life to bring more joy!

Robin kept the audience on their toes and brought a beautiful message that we all need to bring with us everyday. I wish we had more time with her.

It's nice to hear from a speaker who isn't trying to tell us how to improve working tactics but someone who is interested in improving OURSELVES to be capable of doing the work better.

Attending the Attorneys Resource Conference last week was an enlightening experience, especially the keynote address on "happiness, joy, and gratitude". The speaker Robin eloquently highlighted the significant role these elements play in our personal and professional lives. Reflecting on her words, I have become more aware of the positive impact that embracing gratitude and joy can have, both on myself and those around me who bravely share their stories of challenges and appreciation.

Thank you, Robin, for your amazing presentation!

I came to a seminar for CEUs and was pleasantly surprised by how engaging Robin's presentation was. It was very relatable and easy to take back to work and implement. The audience reacted: The mood completely changed in the room.
